

Schedule Modification

Date Assigned: Tuesday, January 31, 2012

Date Due: Monday, February 6, 2012 @ midnight

As it has been almost two months since your schedules were last modified, and a lot of changes can happen in two months, you now have the opportunity to revisit your schedule, and modify it as needed.

Here are some guidelines:

- You are not allowed to remove any remaining modules without consulting me beforehand.
- You are not allowed to delay any module by more than two weeks, unless you are rearranging the order in which you will complete your modules.
- You are allowed to rearrange modules if you think it is more suitable.
- You are allowed to add modules.
- You are allowed to break one module into multiple modules.

If you are not sure if your changes are within the guidelines, talk to me!

What to Submit

- Share your modified schedule with me on GoogleDocs (ShereenKhoja@gmail.com). You must modify your schedule from CS 493.
- Include a description of why the changes were necessary.
- On Tuesday, February 7, you must give a demonstration of your project to the whole class. As you are giving your demonstration, you should also talk through what your project does, what's left, what you changed, and so on.
